

The A.T. Kearney company has won the Grand Prix of the Best Office Awards 2016

Moscow, 27 May 2016. – The awards for the best office interior projects were handed out on the 26th of May in Moscow as part of the annual event "Best Office Awards 2016". The winner of the competition was the A.T. Kearney international consulting company located in the Bolshevik cultural and business complex – the mutual project of the investment company O1 Properties and Tactics Group.

The "Best Office Awards" was handed out for the seventh time and is considered to be one of the most prestigious awards in the field of corporate and public interior design in Russia, the Commonwealth of Independent States (CIS) and countries of Eastern Europe. 84 participants were nominated for the competition this year.

The unique concept of the Bolshevik project and the unusual design of its interiors allowed the office of the A.T. Kearney company to get the highest possible marks from the Best Office Awards 2016 jury members. The architects Pyotr Kholkovsky and Aleksandra Bolotnikova combined the 21st century building and the fragments of the brickwork, and placed them under glass as a museum piece. The A.T. Kearney office allowed for different types of workplaces, such as open spaces, meeting rooms, private offices for the financial and HR departments and for lawyers, as well as break areas, an open kitchen and a private library.

The Colliers International company acted as a leasing agent of this office and completely executed the interior finishing as well.

The Bolshevik cultural and business complex is a unique renovation project of a former confectionery factory with more than a century's worth of history, located at 15 Leningradsky Avenue. The complex is distinguished by its special architecture and modern design solutions. The renovations of the Bolshevik industrial area included the reconstruction of the historic facades with ornamental brickwork and arched windows, brick restoration, and the complete replacement of engineering systems thanks to which the office buildings were fitted with modern engineering services in accordance with international standards. The architectural design was developed by the famous British architectural bureau John McAslan + Partners.
